Headmaster email and newsletter 12-2-21

Dear Parents and Guardians

I wanted to keep this email brief as I'm sure everyone is looking forward to the break; if not from work, then at least from the challenges that everyone working and learning at home can bring.

We sent a short video message in lieu of an assembly to all the students today and you can watch it here. However, it does come with its own weather warning.

The students have kept extraordinarily engaged throughout the past five weeks, and I would like to thank you for your support and encouragement to facilitate that, and to the academic and extra-curricular staff for the energy and enthusiasm they have brought, to this remote provision.

Colleagues have sent in some news items of activities and competitions the students have been involved with, and you can click through below for details:

- Book Club Diverse Reading List
- European Studies Class
- Pancake Tutorial for next Tuesday

As you will have heard in the media, there is much discussion taking place at Government level with the various education stakeholders, but with no clear outcomes at the moment, either on a return to school or the status of state exams.

It looks less likely that any year groups will return on the 22nd of February but we await further updates from the DES, and will be in contact next week with information for the remaining weeks of remote learning.

I do hope you and your family remain safe and well and you find some opportunities to enjoy, over the mid-term.

Yours,

Mark Ronan
